Students To Participate In Merger Drive

By Clarence W. Wilson

The students of the University of Omaha can actively participate in the merger campaign to merge OU with the University of Nebraska.

The University Merger Committee has asked that the students of OU become involved in the merger campaign and have outlined a program by which the students can help to carry the message of the merger into every home in Omaha.

280 Precincts

There are 280 precincts in the city limits of Omaha. The campaign committee has asked for an OU student volunteer to organize committees of students in each of the 280 precincts. This precinct captain would recruit the team of fellow students to make door-to-door contacts in the precinct.

These students would distribute information materials, place window cards in the windows of businesses in the precinct and distribute yards signs.

This group would also be responsible for the manning of their precinct's polling place on Dec. 12, the day of the election.

All students are urged to sign up Monday in the Student Center, Room 234.

Room 234, the Student Organizations room, will be turned into the student headquarters for the merger campaign.

Large Map

A large map of the city divided into four quarters will help the students discover which precinct they reside in. A member of the Student Council, which is spearheading the student campaign efforts for the merger, will be in Room 234 to sign up the precinct captains and to give instructions to them.

Path To The Future

Task Force

A student task force is also needed to assemble the yard signs. Five thousand signs are to be printed, and students will be asked to attach the signs to stakes. An assembly-line operation is being planned for the job as soon as the signs come from the printers.

Students are also asked to participate in the merger drive. Bumper stickers have been printed and OU cars will be able to wear them. Ralph Bradley, director of the OU Office of Information and co-director of the merger campaign said that the "bumper stickers ordered were not those that stick forever." Campus organizations will be asked to man the parking lots to distribute the bumper stickers.

Convocation

An all school convocation will be held Nov. 15 to give OU president, Dr. Kirk E. Naylor an opportunity to answer student questions.

The students have been asked and will be given an opportunity to actively support the merger because it is the students of OU who will have the most to gain.

The community is looking at every one at OU to determine what the feeling of the OU family is toward the merger. The students, the largest segment of that "family", must be active in the merger campaign.

US Meeting Becomes Constitution Debate

By Rosie Adkins

The Wednesday meeting of the United Students (US) was sparsely populated.

In all, only 28 people were there.

Bruce Allen, chief organizer of US didn't show up until practically the end of the hour meeting. The reason, someone suggested, was that he wanted to keep in the background so as not to influence or control US with his own ideas.

Because of the small turn-out, they only held an hour meeting. Two hours had been scheduled. At least when I left at 12:25, no one was left and enthusiasm for another meeting wasn't high.

Denny Jorgensen, Student Council vice-president, came to the meeting a few minutes after it started. Before he arrived, discussion centered around fraternities. It was admitted (especially with the small number there) that they couldn't outparty the fraternities. Any ideas of political parties should be thrown out the window.

When Jorgensen came in, USer's asked him why the students weren't getting a better constitution, one which included their three points: a popularly-elected student senate by college, a student court or tribunal and a bill of student rights.

Jorgensen told them that the Student Council was now working on a new constitution that did include similar proposals.

Jorgensen told them his 21-page constitution contained a lot of details which probably "would not all be approved, but

Drop Deadline

Friday, Nov. 10 is the last day students may drop classes without getting an "F" on their records.

This is also the final day for making up incompletes from the Spring 1967 semester.

OU Senate To Hear Students

Any student concerned about any matter involving student affairs or student life at the University may have that matter considered by the University Senate. To do so, he should bring the problem to the attention of the Student Council, to the chairman of the appropriate committee of the Senate Council on Student Affairs, or the chairman of the Council. The appropriate persons to contact are:

Intercollegiate Athletics Committee: Dr. Francis Hurst, Room 347 Adm.;

Scholarships, Awards and Loans Committee: Mr. William Gerbraecht, Room 240 Adm.;

Student Affairs Council, for matters other than those with which the above committees are concerned: Dr. John Brilhart, Room 230 Adm.

Directories Here

The new 1967-68 student directories are now being distributed. They can be obtained with a student activity card from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the first-floor checkroom in the Student Center. They will be distributed for the next week.

Committee To Shorten Proposed Constitution

The Student Council Constitution Committee will work to shorten its proposed 21-page constitution.

The reason for the cut is that a short constitution would get approved sooner than the present 21-page document, which could take one or two years for approval.

The Student Council was told at its Wednesday meeting that the committee will focus its attention on the new student government structure. This would be in the form of a student senate. Senate representatives would be elected by college and apportioned according to the number in each college as well as the present method which calls for election by class.

"The student senate structure proposal could conceivably be added to the present constitution as an amendment," said council vice-president Denny Jorgensen.

Council Discussion

The council hopes to take the proposed constitutional changes out of committee and discuss them at the next council meeting, Nov. 15 at 8:30 p.m. in Student Center Room 234.

Referendums on the proposal should come "within a very short time," said Jorgensen. He hopes the new structure could go into effect next semester.

Other constitutional revisions will be taken up after the student senate proposal is approved.

Student Center, Room 234, was designated as campaign headquarters for the student merger drive. Captains, precinct workers and poll workers are needed in each of Omaha's 280 precincts. Beginning Monday, students interested in campaigning for the NU-OU merger may sign up in that room between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. In other business, the Council:

Other Business

—is working on petition forms for campus organization's fund-raising projects.

—appointed Jerry Ferguson, Randy Owens, Dennis Jorgensen, Ed Ganey and Sandi Olson to attend the Nebraska Student Governments Assembly on Dec. 1-2. OU is not at present a member of this organization.

—agreed to purchase for one year the Intercollegiate Press Bureau bulletin. The bulletin will help the council discover what other colleges and universities are doing to better represent the student body.

—organized a committee to look into a proposal for faculty evaluation. Council president, Randy Owens, brought the teacher evaluation program used at NU as a guideline for student evaluation of the faculty here.

—met with Freshman representatives, Doug Moss and Tim McGill absent.

OU Car Struck

OU student, Ron Jarecki, looks at his Volkswagen bumper, after an accident which took place in parking lot "J" last Friday at 11 a.m.

Jarecki was backing his Volkswagen out of his stall when Kenneth Coats, a student from Hastings College here for the Debate Tournament, ran into Jarecki's car.

Coats said he did not see the VW back out of the stall. Think parking is a game, see page 8.

Student Help Sought

The Student Council is spear-heading student involvement in the merger campaign.

Much discussion has been done and now students can actively become involved.

Much time will be involved. A group of three to four students "covering" each of the 280 precincts will take time and hard work, but the old adage that "all good things are hard to get" can be applied.

Again, the Gateway says that the students must become involved in this campaign. The students are the ones who will reap the most benefit. The citizens of Omaha will look to the University to see how, we, at the University feel about the merger. The students are the largest part of this University, and as such, can do the most or the worst for this University.

The Student Council has spoken for the students. A resolution supporting the merger passed the council unanimously and was signed yesterday and presented to OU president Dr. Kirk E. Naylor.

The resolution says:

"Be it resolved that we, the members of the Omaha University Student Council acting under the powers granted to us as the duly-elected representatives of the Student Body, support the merger of the University of Omaha with the University of Nebraska.

This position is taken with absolutely no reservations on any one of our parts. It is our belief that this "joining of forces" will be highly beneficial to both institutions. We further feel that such action will benefit the city of Omaha and the entire State of Nebraska."

The Student Council has given the students the ball. Now it is up to the students to run with it.

Over Fifty Universities Attend OU Debate Tourney

By Wendy Tichy

"Going to a municipal university how do you meet new people?"

"Do you have a certain time set aside when all the clubs meet?"

I was met with a bevy of such questions as I talked to students attending the OU Kick Off Debate Tournament.

For the students from over 50 schools across the nation, the debate tourney was not the only topic of conversation. A male debater from Westmar College, LeMars, Iowa, commented on a girl he saw in a mini-pants-dress.

Two debaters from Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa, were late for the awards ceremony because they had forgotten the time while visiting a local poster shop.

All I talked to enjoyed their visit to Omaha. For many it was their first trip to the Midwest.

Dennis McCarthy from the United States Air Force Academy is a native of New York City. The thing that struck him the most was the friendliness of the OU students. He had always heard Midwesterners referred to as warm but as he said, "I went over to the union (OUampi Room) and guys I didn't know would just come over and talk to me."

The Conference Center was the core of the tournament. From there, debaters were assigned to various rooms for the competition rounds.

Of course there were the usual mix-ups. It was common for room numbers to get turned around. One student was surprised as he confidently walked into a classroom to be confronted by a geology class.

Classrooms were at a premium. Creighton University donated excess rooms and events were able to be scheduled in time for the Saturday deadline.

Results were as follows: Oral Interpretation: first, Joyce Estwick, Augustana College, second, John Carter, Nebraska Wesleyan. Oratory: first, Rich Madsen, South Dakota State; second, Lynda Lyso, McCallister College, St. Paul, Minn.

Extemporaneous: first, Dave Hefflinger, Creighton, second, Tom Harkness, U.S.A.F. Discussion: first, McCallister College; second, USAF A Debate: first, Iowa State, second, Lindfield, third, Western Illinois. And B Debate: first, University of Iowa, second, McCallister College.

Both Duane Aschenbrenner director of forensics, and John Wanzenried, associate director of forensics, were pleased with the outcome of the tournament. As debaters and coaches filed out of the Conference Center Auditorium, many comments were made. The most frequent of those, "Thank you so much, see you next year."

Letters To The Editor

"Protest" Confusion

Dear Editor,

I too was amused by the first protest poem and also Part II, appearing in last week's edition. It seems that Mr. Mohr has the usual veteran opinion: "If war was good enough for me, it is good enough for Junior."

World Wars I and II were just as morally unjust as is Vietnam. To this, I would expect an accusation of unloyal cowardice to which I would have to partially agree. I think that I, like almost every other "Joe College" on this campus, love Mommy and Dad and the flag, but face it. When one is dead, he is dead for a long time, and it's the only life I've got.

I enjoyed the reply from "21 months in Asia" and appreciated his opinions, however, I wasn't really too impressed with Mr. "Still Laughing's" overbearing remarks. He portrays the other extreme.

About all he did was show his immaturity with name-calling tactics. I feel that Mr. Mohr unfortunately has stereotyped most male college students and that "Still Laughing" portrayed that image to the hilt. I noticed that he also did not sign his name.

It is really too bad that so much of both extremes exist in our society, but I suppose that life cannot manage without that little extra touch of confusion.

Migrants! . . . Where?

Dear Editor,

Last week, Ipmaoues tried to sponsor migration to Washburn University. Seven students out of 9,000 signed up to see the Indians beat Washburn (49-21). With ample publicity and ample time, only seven students signed up - - - what happened to the other 8,993?

This is only an example of what happens every time OU tries to do something to promote school spirit. In one issue of the Lone Haranguer, the editors stated the desire of an unorganized group to do their part to promote OU. Where were those ambitious people last Saturday at the game? This would have been an excellent opportunity for them to show their "stuff."

The band, cheerleaders, Indians and a very few Ipmaoues are the only ones who ever show their loyalty to OU. We realize that OU is different from other universities in that most students work.

However, don't you think that by identifying with your school - - by supporting your teams - - that you would round out your college experiences? We have certainly benefited from our experiences; perhaps you could, too. Think about it!!!

OU Young Republicans For "Lights On" Campaign

OU Young Republicans passed a resolution supporting a movement to conduct a national Lights On for Vietnam campaign.

The movement for such a national undertaking hasn't started yet, but OU YR's are writing to the national Young Republican President, Jack McDonald and dropping him a hint to initiate one.

Last week, OU YR's conducted a local Lights On campaign, but they feel a national campaign is too big for them alone.

The purpose of the campaign is to allow citizens to overtly show their support for our men, though not necessarily our policy, in Vietnam by simply turning on their house lights.

This is more convenient than attending a rally and provides a way for the retired and handicapped to easily show their support.

Tonight YR's will attend a leadership training school in Kansas City, Kansas. The convention, at which Winthrop Rockefeller will speak, lasts till tomorrow afternoon.

A YR hayrack ride and Weiner roast is scheduled for Nov. 11 at the K & G Ranch in Council Bluffs. The price is $1 per person and all faculty and students are invited. Anyone planning to attend should contact Dick Crow, 558-2982 before Nov. 7.

US Becomes Debate

if you can't get a whole loaf, get a half loaf."

Denny then explained that if the constitution was sent to the University Senate in its present long form, a year and a half or two would be necessary for approval. The time element could be cut down if they worked on the student senate proposal alone right now, and worry about the details later.

The User's liked this idea but wanted a referendum as soon as possible. Jorgensen insisted that the proposal should go through the Council before any referendum, and before anyone else sees it. He hoped the constitution would be out of committee and before the council by next week.

The US meeting broke up then. No strong, independent united student front had been formed.

Even among the small number who did attend, there was disagreement. Some said they thought there was a Lone Haranguer element in US that was detrimental. Others didn't accept the three-point program.

However, the meeting did accomplish one thing. It provided for an exchange of constitution ideas between the members and Jorgensen. Their views were basically in agreement, but US wanted the structure soon.

Pianist Adele Marcus At OU Arts Festival

"Exceptional among leading concert artists. Dazzling pianistic line. . . . The piano literally sang under her touch."

That's the review the San Francisco Sunday Chronicle gave pianist Adele Marcus following a recent recital.

Miss Marcus will appear in OU's Fine Arts Festival, Sunday, Nov. 5 at 4 p.m. in the Conference Center Auditorium.

Admission to the recital is free and the public is invited. Doors will open at 3 p.m. There will be no reserved seats.

Miss Marcus will play works by Beethoven, Chopin, Scriabin and Schumann. Following the concert will be a coffee hour.

Seminar To Be Conducted

On Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 6-7, at 10 a.m., Miss Marcus will conduct a two-day seminar entitled "Lecture Demonstration In Piano." Admission is $12 to any non-student interested in attending. The student price (any student under 21) is $6. Miss Marcus will lecture on "The Mechanics of Technique" on Monday, and "Musicianship: As A Basis For Interpretation" on Tuesday. Both seminars start at 9:30 a.m.

Miss Marcus, born in Kansas City, Mo., entered the Juilliard School of Music at age 15 and studied piano with the eminent Russian pianist Josef Lhevinne, and composition with Rubin Goldmark.

She made her New York debut four years later as a Naumburg Prize Winner.

Shortly after, she studied with Arthur Schnabel in Berlin and appeared in numerous concerts throughout the United States and Europe.

In 1954, Miss Marcus joined the Piano Faculty at the Juilliard School of Music, where she now teaches.

OU Teacher Was Student

Clark R. Mullen, who teaches piano at OU, was a student of Miss Marcus at the Juilliard School in New York. He calls her "just phenomenal. Everything I learned in piano, I learned from that woman."

The recital and seminar session is presented by the Friends of Music at Omaha University, a non-profit organization. The organization provides scholarships for talented music students.

'Rejective Art' Exhibition Begins Next Thursday

Lucy Lippard's "Rejective Art" show opens at OU next Thursday, Nov. 9 and continues through Nov. 30.

The exhibition features a new kind of art, known among other names, as structural or ABC art. Such sculpture and painting is usually done on a large scale in monotonal colors—blacks, whites, grays and browns. Several drawings are also included in the exhibition.

Exhibits Highly Abstract

Miss Lippard, who organized the show under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts, will lecture on "Rejective Art" at 8 p.m., Nov. 10 in Room 312, MBSC.

The 35 exhibits by 24 different artists are highly abstracted and aesthetic justification should come from the composition itself, not necessarily from its resemblance to anything real.

"The art in this exhibition has been called passive and aggressive, impersonal and egotistical, dispassionate and compelling, imaginative and boring, overwhelming and minimal. None of these adjectives validly apply to all of the artists represented here, and their diversity—to which such name-calling testifies—is implicit in the work," said Miss Lippard.

Art Show Is Free

Among works of special interest are Sol Le Witt's "Series A #1, baked enamel on aluminum sculpture; David Novros' "Untitled," acrylic laquer on dacron; Tony Smith's "The Snake Is Out," plywood; Robert Mangold's "Manila Colored," oil sprayed on masonite; Walter de Maria's "Invisible Word Drawing," pencil on paper; Robert Grosvenor's "Drawing For Floating Sculpture," tape and pencil on paper and William Bollinger's long, skinny 4 x 147 x 1-inch "Anodized Aluminum Extrusion 18," sculpture.

Students will have an opportunity to chat with Miss Lippard on the afternoon of Nov. 9, in Room 312, Student Center.

Admission to the "Rejective Art" show is free, but I.D. cards or tickets are required for the Nov. 10 lecture.

OUampi Juke Box To Die For Week

The OUampi Room and its occupants will be the scene for experimentation next week.

Monday the juke box in the OUampi Room will be turned off and replaced by the new sound of KWOU radio.

KWOU To Rock

KWOU will initiate a complete rock program for the students. KWOU program director, Mike McCurdy, says, "We will have a top forty format, offering everything in rock music. As opposed to the conversational tone KWOU formerly had, we will pride ourselves on more music than talk."

Chairman of the House and Grounds Committee on the Student Union Board, Madeline Menke, introduced the idea of discontinuing the juke box for a week. Students are asked to voice their opinion during the trial run.

Both Necessary?

Student Director, Fred Ray says, "The juke box does not have adequate volume for the noise in the OUampi Room. Speakers for the radio station are strategically located on the ceiling and should improve the sound."

After polling student opinion, it may be necessary to have a combination of both.

Opinion boxes will be located in the OUampi Room and at the information desk, Room 250, Student Center.

Poet Snodgrass Speaks Monday

Pulitzer Prize-winning poet, William D. Snodgrass will speak Monday as the literary contribution to the OU Fine Arts Festival.

The Snodgrass lecture will be at 8 p.m. in the Conference Center Auditorium. Admission is free with activity card.

Sigma Tau Delta, the English club on campus, will also sponsor a coffee hour in the Conference Center Lounge Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. This will give students an opportunity to meet Snodgrass informally and also to sign up for membership in Sigma Tau Delta.

Eight major poetry prizes from America and England have been awarded to Snodgrass.

He won the Pulitzer Prize in 1960 for a volume of poems called "Heart's Needles."

During his poetry writing career, he taught at nationally known writers conferences and the University of Rochester. He also served as associate professor at Wayne University in Detroit.

Snodgrass is said to be recapturing the art of poetry and breathing new life into it.

"Something wonderful happened to all of us who met and listened to him . . ." members of Garland Junior College in Boston said of the poet.

Law School Test

The Law School Admission Test, required of candidates for admission to most American law schools will begin next week.

Registration forms may be obtained on campus from Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, Liberal Arts and Sciences, Room 347, Adm.; Professor C. Glenn Lewis, Business Administration, Room 272, Adm. and B. Gale Oleson, Counseling and Guidance, Room 213, Adm.

Voices From Beyond

Dean Cracks Down On N. Dakota Frat Drinking

"We're happy to give you student power. But along with that power, you must accept responsibility." These were the words of Dean John T. Wynne of the University of North Dakota reports the Dakota Student.

The Dean of Men announced a university policy to crack down on student drinking. Under specific attack was fraternity drinking. The administration criticized the emphasis fraternities place on drinking.

A resolution was passed by the Inter-fraternity Council which states that "drinking in or at a fraternity function, is an offense punishable by placing the guilty fraternity on social probation for a period of 16 calendar weeks."

Priest Defies Draft

Also according to the Dakota Student a draft resistance movement has been initiated by the Newman chaplain Rev. Robert Brannconner. "The purpose of the group is to encourage open resistance to the draft. The burden and strain facing young men of draft age who oppose the war in Vietnam should not be borne by them alone."

The priest has been active with peace movement on campus.

Cliff Court Convenes

Cliff News report that students at Briar Cliff College have formed a student court.

The court consists of two elected faculty members and four elected student members.

The court has three functions: to decide whether charges should be filed, to decide the guilt or innocence of a party and to decide the sanction if a guilty verdict is found.

Hastings Hatches "Mac Bird"

"Mac Bird" will be presented at Hastings College reports the Hastings Collegian. The play contains contemporary humor and wit but is written in classical Shakespearean style which parallels "Macbeth."

"Lady Bird and her daughters plant flowers in abundance, and the three witches stir up quite a rhythm around a cauldron as they modernize a "Macbeth" scene."

This is one of the first official productions of the controversial play. It was performed at the University of Wisconsin without University approval. The play is in the planning stages at the University of North Dakota.

American Streets - Unsafe

From the Daily Nebraskan comes a report on Dick Gregory. Gregory, a non-violent, pacifist, vegetarian, comedian and civil rights leader told University of Nebraska students, "We conscript soldiers to go around the world to insure Vietnamese the freedom to walk wherever they want in Vietnam, while Americans cannot walk down American streets unmolested by other Americans."

Why Fishnet Stockings?

Also from the Daily Nebraskan, a teach-in on "Sex, Drugs, Morality and the Future" was held at the University of Nebraska campus on Oct. 30 in conjunction with the AWS Focus on Coeds Week. The theme of the session was the American woman of 1967 and the future.

Questions such as—What is she like? How does she think? What is her morality? And why does she wear fishnet stockings and short, short dresses and mini-skirts?—were considered during the session.

NU Pays For Paying

The Daily Nebraskan reports on the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) censure. The University of Nebraska was reprimanded and censured without penalty by the NCAA for a violation of recruiting rules in contacting a prospective athlete who never enrolled at the University.

The violation involved payment of the prospect's $600 automobile repair bill while he was working for an employer not affiliated with the University.

Important Possessions

From the Dakota Student comes news of a lecture by F. Lee Bailey to University of North Dakota students. The noted criminal lawyer stated that "An American jury is the greatest power the United States government has granted."

Bailey went on to say that an American's right to serve as a juror along with his right to vote are his two most important possessions.

Bailey told the students that he opposed capital punishment because a jury is the ultimate decider and it can err.

Apathy Defeats Referendum

Students at Washburn University failed to pass the revised activity fee resolution according to the Review. Eleven hundred votes were needed and only 593 favorable votes were cast. Less than one third of the student body voted.

If passed the referendum would have given a portion of the activity fee for allocation to the Student Council instead of the General Council.

Spirit Out Of Hand

Antelope Days were celebrated at Hastings College reports the Hastings Collegian. The purpose is to promote school spirit for the annual game with Kearney State College.

However, some of the students seemed to get out of hand as a panty-raid was initiated on the girl's dormitories. Antelope decorations and the dormitories in general were left in havoc.

In recent weeks this column has reported the trials and tribulations of Kirk Naylor Jr, president of the Nebraska Wesleyan Student Council.

In the past two issues he has been criticized in the Wesleyan student paper. This week a column supporting him appeared. What will happen next week? Will he be praised or criticized? Don't look for the answer in the Gateway. The matter has been dropped.

Omaha Comes Home To Host Emporia

At Ring Side

with
Rudy Smith

There has been much talk and chatter in the local sporting circle and among the OU football players about the high national ranking of Kearney State College.

The chatter revolves around the so-called "light schedule" of the Kearney State Antelopes as compared to the Indian's schedule.

Many of the players feel that if they were given the chance to play the Antelopes, the OU victory would be known as the "Taming of the Shrew."

Kearney has an impressive 8-0 record but, one must keep in mind, the fact that they play teams like Hastings College and Peru State, who between themselves, have won a mere three games in 15 outings.

It's no secret that the Indians probably will not get a post-season bowl bid. Bowl invitations are being passed around and the Antelopes should accept the first one that grudgingly comes a-knocking.

Charles Mancuso, former OU wrestling standout, member of the Alumni Association and manager for the City Auditorium and Rosenblatt Stadium has issued the first bowl invitation to the Antelopes to play in the Centennial Bowl at Rosenblatt on Nov. 25. That's the last day of the states' centennial celebration.

Dr. Kirk Naylor and OU football coach, Al Caniglia have sanctioned such a bowl between the Indians and the Antelopes of Kearney State and along with Mr. Mancuso is awaiting a reply from the Kearney State campus.

It's been more than a week since the invitation was extended but thus far, no reply.

At any rate, in defense of Kearney, there is no valid reason for them to play the Indians other than the thought of suffering a defeat and a very damaging blow to their national prestige.

Few Loyal Supporters

Not more than a dozen tickets were sold to OU students for the migration to Washburn, last weekend. And as a result of student body apathy, the cheerleaders were more or less cheering with the response coming from the band, Ipmauos, the Indiannes and a few loyal football parents and faculty members.

A few of the loyal supporters who made the trip were Dr. and Mrs. Kirk Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Yelkin, Mrs. Caniglia, mother of coach Caniglia, and the parents of Buddy Belitz, who saw their son ejected from the game for foul play or just a "plain old bad call" as Buddy would say.

The Washburn homecoming crowd was far from expectations but maybe it's best that the student body, parents and alumni were not present to witness the bad sportsmanship exhibited by the host team, and their play on the field, referring to the first-half score of 35-0.

Officiating Poor

There have been comments about the officiating at the OU-Washburn game, but, what was the real truth?

According to coach Caniglia, "the officiating was poor, especially on the part of one official."

Coach Don Benning even got called for unsportsmanlike conduct for being past the 30 yard line. If there ever was an ideal sport coach, Benning would be a shoo-in.

At any rate the coaching staff took the calls in stride one after another without uttering any foul or obscene language. Coach Caniglia, who resembles Israel's Moshe Dayan, with a patch over his irritated infected left eye, took it very well, like most gentlemen and winning coaches do.

Letter To Sports Editor

Washburn Is Rude

Despite the 49-21 trouncing the OU Indians dealt the Washburn Ichabods last Saturday, an unfortunate event seemed to mar the glory of the day.

The opposing bench-sitters, under the direction of Washburn graduate assistant Rich Gilkison, shouted obscenities at our cheerleaders, Indiannes and OUampi (Lloyd Roitstein).

The trouble originally developed as a result of poor planning on the part of Washburn officials. Rather than having our band, Indiannes, OUampi and cheerleaders sitting behind our team, we were told to sit behind the Washburn team.

As a result, our cheerleaders were forced to do their yelling, and OUampi, his dancing behind the Ichabod bench.

Roitstein said throughout the game every time our yellers yelled, the Washburn team yelled right back - - - in the form of obscenities. This was after Gilkison told the team to swing at the next Indian who cheered.

Finally during the third quarter Washburn's number 71 came up to Roitstein and said, "This is what I think of OU." He promptly spat on Roitstein. Lloyd then told number 71 he was "rather brave behind his shoulder pads and helmet." Roitstein was then kicked several times on his left leg. The bruises still remain.

In addition to the lousy officiating by "those officials who decided to even things up," the whole spirit of the day was lost because of the bush atmosphere the Topekans extended to OU.

Winless Kansans Are Parents' Day Foe; Indians Seek To Hike CIC Record

A road-weary Omaha University football squad returns to the campus stadium tomorrow afternoon against Emporia State at 1:30.

The Indians, who have split two road encounters with Drake and Washburn, will be trying to win their third CIC game of the season. OU is 2-0 in the conference and tied for first with Fort Hays State. The Indian over-all slate is 4-3.

Parents' Day

Saturday's game will be tabbed "Parents' Day." All parents of OU students can buy two tickets for the price of one.

Emporia State, who has an 0-7 record "looks better than their record" coach Al Caniglia says. "They have real good personnel."

The Hornets are led at quarterback by Kansas State transfer Vic Castillo, who has passed more than any other CIC quarterback so far this season.

Emporia reportedly likes to throw out of the spread formation and will probably exercise this, quite often tomorrow against an injured Omaha secondary.

Safety Don Franklin is out for the season with a broken forearm he received at Washburn. Franklin was filling in for injured Lew Garrison who will "probably play against Emporia" in the words of Caniglia. Garrison was out with a slight shoulder separation.

The Hornet backfield sports two fine running backs in freshman Charlie DiVitto and Ron Moddelmogg. The latter was the Hornet quarterback in 1966.

Fort Hays	2	0	61	7
Pittsburg	2	1	68	48
Emporia	0	2	14	53
Washburn	0	3	33	100

Omaha will start the same backfield as last week, with Pat Smagacz at halfback and Greg Kavan at fullback. Smagacz gained 127 yards on 13 carries against Washburn while Kavan sprinted 38 yards on 6 carries.

New Faces

The parents' day crowd could get to see the Omaha reserve quarterbacks Gary Peters and Rocco Gonnella before the game is out. Last week, these two rookies participated in all but eight offensive plays in the second half. In fact, there may be many new faces in the lineup if the first stringers can pile up a lead on the Hornets. Thirty-nine players saw action against Washburn.

Harriers To Finish Fast?

By Larry Lehmer

Four fast improving freshmen and a pair of veteran sophomores have given cross-country coach Lloyd Cardwell a hopeful outlook as this season draws to a close.

The harriers hope to improve their 3-5 record on Tuesday, Nov. 7, when they host Peru and Wayne State for a triangular meet at Elmwood Park at 4 p.m.

Sophomores Rich Carey and Gordon Sweeney have been the leading point-getters for the Indians this season. Carey has won five of eight meets.

Coach Cardwell cited freshmen Jim LaFavor, Bob Gehringer, Bob Franzese and Keith Christensen as having shown marked improvement through the season. LaFavor, from Omaha Benson, turned in a time of 21:46 over a four-mile course in last weeks victory over Midland for a fourth place finish.

Omaha defeated Midland College, 22-37, in cross country at Fremont last Friday afternoon. The victory was the harriers' third in eight meets this season.

Rich Carey and Gordon Sweeney paced the Indians with a 1-2 finish as seven OU runners finished in the first ten.

Carey's winning time was 20:46 over the four-mile course, with Sweeney only 13 seconds behind at 20:59. Fast improving freshman Jim LaFavor took fourth with a time of 21:46.

OU Routs Ichabods, Haas Breaks Record

OU Indians squashed Washburn, 49-21, and moved into a first place tie with Fort Hays State for the conference lead. Both teams have 2-0 conference marks.

Omaha scored first on Marlin Briscoe's 13 yard jaunt. Briscoe was hit near the goal line but fell in for his second touchdown of the year.

The second quarter saw the Indians open up a 35-0 advantage as Briscoe passed for two scores and Lloyd Williams tossed for another. Pat Smagacz jogged 26 yards for the other TD. Marlin Briscoe hit on 9-13 passing attempts for 166 second-period yards.

Reserves... Chance

The reserves got a chance to show their stuff in the second half as 39 players saw action.

Omaha managed a touchdown in each of the last two periods. Briscoe passed three yards to Bill Haas in the third quarter, and Haas hauled in a 19 yard scoring toss from rookie Gary Peters in the fourth.

Senior End Bill Haas caught three touchdown passes to tie consecutive placements. Assistant Coach Carl Meyers held the old record of six placements against Bradley, also in 1962.

Paul Blazeovich's record against Colorado State in 1962.

Coach Al Caniglia felt the Indians "played the best first-half they've played all year."

Halfback Pat Smagacz proved a capable replacement for injured Ron Sayers as he gained 127 yards on 13 carries. Smagacz also chipped in a 26-yard touchdown run.

"Smagacz and Greg Kavan both did good jobs in their first offensive starts of the year," Caniglia said.

Lloyd Williams, versatile Indian scatback, threw one touchdown pass and caught another as Omaha spiced its attack with variety.

Officiating "Poor"

Omaha was assessed a total of 184 penalty yards, 160 of them coming in the second half.

"It wasn't a particularly vicious game compared to last year's Washburn-OU game," Caniglia said.

"Some of the pass interference calls were ridiculous though," he added.

"We try to teach the boys in the defensive secondary to go for the ball. We deserved some of that penalty yardage, but we feel that our defense was just doing its job in breaking up Washburn's pass plays," he said.

Always cautious in his criticism of officials, Caniglia was firm in his stand that the referees in Topeka last Saturday were "poor."

Fan-Tanners Tan Thirty To Clinch League Title

It's been a week and the chatter is beginning to die down, however there was lots of talk about the Fan Tanner's stunning 10-to-nothing victory over the previously undefeated Dirty Thirty's.

With the victory, the Fan Tanner's become the only undefeated Intramural team on campus, and the win clinched the League II championship with a 7-and-0 record. Two of the victories were by forfeit.

The Tanner's scored late in the first half on a half-back pass from John Capellupo to Jack Holder. Capellupo added the extra point ending the scoring for the first half.

The remainder of the game turned out to be a defensive battle until Tanner, Butch Noble, kicked a 30 yard field goal to pad the lead.

The Tanner's had the week off but move into a busy schedule next week. Tuesday they meet the IDGAF's. (The outcome will have no bearing on the league standings.) Wednesday the League I champion will get a shot at the Tanner's and the winner of that game will meet the All-Stars on Thursday.

Association Trims IDGAF

A few timely breaks, a tough defense and a crop of good receivers were the ingredients necessary for the Association to defeat the aggressive but outclassed IDGAF 13-7 Monday on a muddy Pep Bowl field.

The muddy field prohibited either team from gathering a consistent ground game, thus forcing the two teams into an air duel.

The Association drew first blood on an alley-oop pass from quarterback Rudy Smith, playing his first game, to tight end Deforest Reed.

The scoring play covered 70 yards with Reed running the last 30 yards with the aid of blocks from Fred Booker and Carl Sullivan.

IDGAF... Retaliates

A Smith to Brent Danner pass made the score 7-0.

The aggressive IDGAF team wasn't to be held without a score and they immediately retaliated by scoring on a swing pass from quarterback Galen McClusky to halfback Jim Simpson who ran the final 60 yards untouched for the score.

Drop kicker Jim Estey made the score 7-7 on a disputed conversion play.

Both teams had scoring opportunities foiled near the half by interceptions with each team intercepting two passes.

Nelson... Two Interceptions

In the second half an Association pass theft and runback of 55 yards by cornerback Jim Nelson made the score 13-7. The extra point try failed. Nelson had two interceptions and three pass receptions for the game.

Three consecutive penalties in the last minutes of play forced the determined IDGAF team to give up the ball on downs after putting together their best drive of the day.

The victory was the second for the Association in six games and the loss for the IDGAF was their fifth in seven games.

In the second game of the Monday double header TKE inflicted the fifth loss of the season on the Independents with a grueling ground game and a strong defense.

TKE scored first on 45 yard pass from quarterback Dave Shafer to sticky fingers Doug Moline.

The conversion attempt failed and the score remained 6-0. TKE scored again, but with the help of the Independent offensive unit.

On fourth down the Independent kicker stepped out of the end zone for a two point safety and a 8-0 TKE victory.

Intramural Notes...

The third and final round of intramural archery will be held on the football field today at 1:30 according to intramural director Bert Kurth.

"All basketball team captains should pick up a cage schedule in my office by today," said Mr. Kurth.

The first game is less than two weeks away.

New Record

The Team was the only team to enter two team entries into the men's intramural one mile race Oct. 30. It was also the only team to win first and second place and establish a new mile race record of 20:57:8.

The number one Team members were: Bob Smiley, John Brightman, Gary Secora and bearded John Haney.

The second place Team members were: Bruce Jennings, Pat Anderson, Rich Anderson and Dave Oman.

The Pi Kaps and Lambda Chi were third and fourth, while TKE ran fifth with the Sig Eps, sixth and the Theta Chi team last.

In the fraternity standings the Pi Kaps still remain the leader and Lambda Chi still holds second place.

Wagner Leads

Ron Wagner, Lambda Chi, leads in two bowling departments over the week, while his Lambda Chi teammates lead in the high team game average with 873 and the high team series with 2461.

Wagner was tops in the individual games with a 267 followed by Larry Lehmar with a 256.

OU Ski Course On KYNE Soon

Students, put on your skis and relax in front of your UHF receiver, for starting next week you can learn how to ski right in your own living room.

"Skiing," a series of thirteen, bi-weekly television lessons will be seen on KYNE-TV, channel 26, beginning Monday, Nov. 6 and running through Jan. 30.

The twice-weekly meetings, on Mondays at 8:30 p.m. and Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m., will be presented by Dr. Cy Smythe of the University of Minnesota. Besides Dr. Smythe, other professional ski instructors will also appear on the program during the series.

The series of lessons will teach the fundamental techniques of skiing from the basics through the advanced techniques of skiing.

Special static "walk through" demonstrations will be performed on an inclined ramp built inside the television studio. This ramp will permit observers to see the intricate details of the fluid art of skiing.

Council Seeks Club Rosters

Campus organizations must submit their club rosters to the Student Council today.

Rosters may be left in Room 250, Student Center. Applications for club mailboxes on campus will also be taken there.

Organizations who have not yet submitted rosters are:

Alpha Psi Omega, Amateur Radio Club, Biology Club, Home Economics Club, International Students Organization, Kappa Delta Pi.

"O" Club, Phi Epsilon, Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, Philosophy Club, Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Kappa Delta, Riding and Jumping Club, Student Education Association and Young Democrats.

SUB Members To Trade Ideas

OU Student Union Board members will be bringing home new ideas for OU.

Seven members of the SUB are attending the International Region XI Conference of the Association of College Unions.

The conference began yesterday and will continue through tomorrow, at the Kansas State University Student Union in Manhattan, Kansas.

Students, Staff Attend

Members of the SUB attending are Ed Workman, Linda Lindamood, George Ryck, Madeline Menke, John Kizlin, Sherry Johnson and Don Darling. Mrs. Theima Engle, social director; Mr. Eugene Young, student intern and Mr. Fred Ray, director of the Student Center, will represent the OU staff.

Representatives from Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri will trade ideas for operating Student Centers and planning and promoting activities.

OU Gets Report

Sessions will include student programmers, student executives and staff sessions. Cooperation and conflict of Union executives and special programming for specialized students will be the discussion topics. The highlight will be a session on Student Union careers.

Each representative from OU will write a report on the conference and turn in suggestions for use at OU.

From The President's Desk:

All Students Concerned In Merger Campaign

By Randy Owens

Student election campaigning takes off its popularity guise for a more discreet test Dec. 12.

The OU-NU merger is relegating Homecoming Princess, Student Council, etc. ballots to a distant corner.

This campaign is for all students, apathetic (or whatever the timely accusation is) or otherwise.

The public polling on Dec. 12 may determine your future, let alone the fate of Omaha University.

Financial instability resulted in OU's efforts to raise the mill levy. Meeting failure in that endeavor (Omahans last voted "no" in 1966), the institution now seeks merger with our "sister" university in Lincoln.

A release in tuition pressures is promised by President Kirk Naylor for Omaha resident students if the merger drive is successful. Undoubtedly, this is of the most immediate concern to most OU students.

The drop will be from the present $18 per credit hour to $15 per credit hour effective in 1968-69.

Academically speaking, the quality of education at Omaha University will be maintained for the immediate future. In other words, curriculum slicing considered for next year will be alleviated.

This evidence supports student campaigning for the Dec. 12 memorandum.

At a meeting last Tuesday of Dean Donald Pflasterer, Gateway staff representatives, Council Vice-President Denny Jorgensen, and Ralph Bradley, University Merger Committee coordinator, plans were laid for student merger participation.

The Gateway has outlined (page 1) means whereby students may contribute to the merger campaign.

This planning, on the part of the groups involved, easily outdistances student efforts during the 1966 levy increase drive. Poll workers and sign-making were the only contributions made by students in that effort.

The students now have the first step accomplished for them: They are being invited to participate.

The Student Council constitution revision committee is currently working on an entirely new constitution.

Denny Jorgensen, Council vice-president, heads the committee which decided that it would be too difficult to simply revise the old constitution, originally accepted in 1941. Denny's current Student Council plan was derived only after he persued some 30-odd other campus constitutions this summer.

Tom Fischer, Ed Ganey, and myself make up the rest of the constitution committee.

As earlier mentioned in this column, the Council meetings at which the constitution will be discussed at any length will be publicized and open to student attendance. The committee intends to go through the new constitution several times before presenting their ideas to the Council.

Ideas under discussion involve the set-up of a student-faculty judicial court, a student senate system with approximately 30 members, all-school election of the Council president and vice-president and many other ideas incorporated from other schools.

Bombs Away And Students Go-Go

Omaha Police Clear OU Campus

Nobody takes a bomb threat lightly. Especially in Omaha since the "mad bomber" and his weekly attacks some time ago.

That is why, when OU was threatened last Thursday, university officials and Omaha Police were busy combing through the campus grounds.

The OU threat followed an earlier threat on a supermarket. The supermarket bomb turned out to be a baseball wrapped in tape, but officials and everyone else, couldn't be sure the OU "bomb" was a hoax.

What's Going On?

When students arrived for night class, they were greeted by police moving in and out of rooms and going through lockers.

Night students had no way of knowing what was going on since the news of the threat had not been released.

When classes began, police went from room to room telling students and teachers to leave at 7:45 p.m. if they were not notified that it was safe to remain by that time.

They weren't, so they left. Many remained outside to see "which building would go up" as one student put it.

When the threatened 8:15 p.m. explosion didn't happen, most students went home.

When police first notified classes of the threat, "we all took it as a big joke," said one Thursday night history student. "But after you sit in your chair for a while and start thinking, it begins to eat at you," she added.

Bomb Causes Irritation

One male student said that after a half hour of sitting "I began to do silly things like look under the chair next to me. I'd give 100 to 1 odds the bomb was fake," he said, "but you sit for a half-hour and you start to wonder."

Many teachers, especially those giving tests were irritated at having to release classes.

Teachers weren't the only people who were irritated that night. One man said, "the question going through my mind is: if the bomb is supposed to go off at eight, why are the officials only giving fifteen or so minutes leeway on his fuse. I don't know about them, but I sure wouldn't trust a guy to tell the truth and make bomb threats in the same call."

Although nobody was hurt, a lot of people were put to a great deal of trouble, and valuable class time was lost. As one student said, "Anyone who gets a kick out of causing a mess like this needs a lot of help."

'Terror' Replaces 'Loved One'

"Experiment in Terror," starring Glenn Ford, Lee Remick, Stephanie Powers and Ross Martin will be shown in the OUampi Room Monday at 3 p.m.

A classic in suspense, it is the electrifying drama of a psychopathic killer's campaign against a pretty bank teller, played by Miss Remick. He wants her to embezzle $100,000 from the San Francisco bank where she works and hand the loot over to him.

To foil the fiend, she goes to the F.B.I. instead. A suspenseful chase ensues, from Chinatown and Fisherman's Wharf to a moment of truth in Candlestick Park.

Music for the two-hour film is by Henry Mancini.

"The Loved One," originally scheduled for showing on Monday, has been withdrawn by the producer.

A.I.E.E. . . . The American Institute of Industrial Engineers is touring Continental Can Company, 72 and F St., today.

The 2:45 p.m. tour will take the place of the regular Friday afternoon meeting. Interested engineering students are invited to attend.

RALLY . . . A "Back Our Boys in Vietnam" rally will be held in front of the Douglas County Courthouse tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Its purpose: to show support of our men in Vietnam, even though we may not necessarily approve of our involvement there.

Everyone is invited to attend and participants may bring their own signs.

TESTS . . . Peace Corps placement tests are being given in Omaha.

Church Lot Open Again

"Murder" and mayhem in OU's parking lots were reduced this week as nearly 200 cars of OU students resumed parking in the west lot of the First Christian Church one block west of OU and across Dodge Street.

The lot was closed to parking last week because of repairs and improvements.

After cracks were repaired, nearly 700 gallons of asphalt quick-dry coating was spread on over 45,000 square feet of the surface to stop damage by freezing and cracking.

The $1,400 cost of repairs is paid for entirely by the church since only a gentleman's agreement exists between the church and OU.

Rev. Ted D. Hurst's only request to OU students is that they park in the west lot and leave the smaller east lot for members of the First Christian Church.

mitted may bring the applications to the test with them. Applicants must also bring their Social Security number to the test.

Any citizen of the United States who is 18 or over and has no dependents under 18 is eligible. Married couples are welcome if both husband and wife can serve as volunteers.

The test isn't rated as passed or failed. It simply tells the Peace Corps how the applicants can best help the people of developing countries around the world.

ARMY HERE . . . Representatives of the Army Officers Candidate School and the Women's Army Corps will be on campus Nov. 6 and 7. A table will be set up in the Student Center from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for interested male seniors and graduates and junior and senior girls.

TICKETS . . . The famous "Gone With The Wind" has been refilmed in color to show on 70 mm wide-screen with stereo sound. The show with original cast will begin showing Nov. 8 at the Indian Hills Cinerama theater.

Anyone interested in attending the premiere showing Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. may obtain tickets at a special student rate of $2 per person through the courtesy of Saint Luke Methodist Men.

The price pays for everything, including refreshments.

Students are urged to phone 333-6886 or 333-3663 for reservations or tickets may be obtained at Rockbrook Pet Center at 10917 Elm in Rockbrook.

CHURCH . . . Pre-theology students ((students interested in church-related vocations) are asked to contact the Rev. Leonard S. Barry in Room 302 of the Student Center on Monday, Wednesday and Friday or by calling him at 341-0246.

Major seminars are compiling address lists for catalogues, journals and notices of annual convocations for university students.

WOMEN AND MEN . . .

Margaret Killian, professor of home economics at OU, will participate in the First Annual State Women's Conference on Nov. 10 in Lincoln.

The conference, sponsored by the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, selected Miss Killian because of her background and interest in community and public affairs. Conference theme is "Women and Men — Partners in Progress."

Next Monday will be Ribbon Day.

At this time several male students will be passing out ribbons and applications to good-looking co-eds on campus to urge them to enter the 1967 Tomahawk Beauty Contest. These girls, plus those sponsored by campus organizations, will have their pictures taken. After a photo elimination, the top twenty girls will participate in the beauty contest to be held on Dec. 13.

"Since the purpose of the contest is to select the campus beauty queen, we want as many girls to enter as possible," explained Jan Voelte, Tomahawk editor. "Formerly, only a small segment of the school seemed involved."

Girls are eligible if they are full-time students with a 2.00 accumulative average. Applications and details will be available in the Student Center Room 250, Monday. They will be due next Wednesday, Nov. 8, by 4 p.m.

Martinez Represents OU

Samuel C. Martinez represented the University of Omaha at the "Chamizal" settlement ceremony in El Paso, Texas, last Saturday.

President Kirk Naylor commissioned Martinez, a graduate student, as the university's official representative at the historic event. The text of his official certificate read in part: "The Municipal University of Omaha sends greetings to the President of Mexico and to the Mexican people upon the happy occasion of the return of El Chamizal to your nation."

The "Chamizal" is a strip of land which has been the subject of a border dispute for more than a century. A southward shift in the Rio Grande River created the dispute, the "Chamizal" problem.

Martinez has several good reasons for an interest in the "Chamizal" problem. He is a Mexican citizen; he was born in Chihuahua, the Mexican state involved in the settlement; he is writing his Master's thesis on the "Chamizal."

3,000 Jobs Abroad Ready Next Summer

"Live-in" at cultures around the world next summer. Unskilled, overseas jobs are available now in the "Jobs Abroad" program sponsored by International Students Information Service.

Farm, child care, construction, work camps, factory, hospital, sales and office jobs may be chosen by people ages 17½ to 40.

In various language areas, including English, these paying jobs can last for a minimum of months and are available the year around.

Placement takes two to four months. There are 3,000 job openings for next summer.

The Parking Lot Game

By Suzanne Wolff

Introduced on campus several years ago the exciting game of "Parking Lot" is in full swing again this semester.

Competition is rough this year and for this reason the game is only recommended for the aggressive young college student or the neurotic bootstrapper.

Freshmen students are advised not to compete because of lack of experience. They are directed to Elmwood Park or the First Christian Church.

For those who haven't quite caught on yet an explanation follows:

The object of "Parking Lot" is to acquire the majority of points for the day — no matter what it takes. Does it sound easy? Well it's not, because the point system in itself is the true test of skill and courage.

The rules are simple and only require that you have in your possession a car, an OU parking sticker, and a large amount of initiative.

Each player must realize that he is competing with the top pros from all over the country besides our own district champions. These pros have spent years in parking lots developing their style, and making it virtually impossible for the novice to gain any experience.

1. Ten points for finding a meter after noon with hours on it.

2. Twenty points to the player who finds a meter with hours before noon.

3. Forfeit ten points if player finds a jammed meter with six hours on it.

4. Ten points if player puts money in his meter and the little red flag that says violation is still visible.

5. Thirty points awarded to the player who finds a parking space between 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday or Friday.

6. Twenty points to the player whose car takes up 1 1/2 spaces.

7. Thirty points to the player who goes to get change for his meter and comes back to find a ticket on his windshield.

8. Thirty points for parking close enough to the car next to you so that he can't get into his car.

9. Ten points bonus if you park close while the driver is still in his car. And 5 more if you get some foul language.

10. Twenty points for forgetting where you parked your car.

11. Ten points if you can't remember whether you drove that day.

12. Forfeits twenty points if a player finds space in the free lot.

13. Go straight to Elmwood Park, lose twenty points.

14. Thirty points to player who backs into a car looking for a parking space.

15. Ten points bonus if he says to the driver while looking at the dent in the side of his opponent's car, "Oh, I didn't even see you."

16. Fifteen points to the player who opens his car door and takes at least a quarter of an inch of paint off of the side of an out-of-state car.

17. Go to the cashiers office and pay all fines, forfeit all points.

18. Ten points to anyone who beats a meter while a campus cop is standing behind him.

19. One hundred points for tearing up your ticket in front of Mrs. Titzell.

20. The player with an Iowa or Nebraska license plate who runs over a campus cop automatically wins the game.
